The ADAMS SENTINEL and GENERAL ADVERTISER.

GREATSEBURY, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1859.

Some of the Adams Sentinels's articles are written by Mr. Isaac H. Burd, a well-known journalist and editor of the period. The newspaper is known for its support of the anti-slavery cause and its critical stance towards President Abraham Lincoln. The article discusses the election of 1859 and the political climate of the time. The newspaper also features advertisements and notices for local events and businesses.
