Communications.

FREDERICK DOUGLASS' PAPER.

Frederick Douglass in Boston.

The following letter from Mr. Douglass has just arrived at this office. Mr. Douglass is in Boston, where he has been for some time, preparing a number of his papers. The letter contains a number of interesting facts and opinions, and is worthy of careful consideration.

Mr. Douglass has been in Boston for some time, and has been greatly engaged in literary and political work. He has been working on a new essay, which he hopes to publish shortly. The essay will be on the subject of political economy, and will be a continuation of his previous works on the subject. Mr. Douglass is a thorough student of political economy, and his work on this topic has been highly regarded by many of his contemporaries.

Mr. Douglass has also been active in political work, and has been a leader in the abolitionist movement. He has been a strong supporter of the Union, and has worked closely with the Republican party. Mr. Douglass is a man of great energy and determination, and his work has been highly valued by his colleagues.

In conclusion, Mr. Douglass is doing important work in Boston, and his efforts are greatly appreciated. His essay on political economy is expected to be a valuable contribution to the literature of the subject, and his political work is certain to continue to be influential.

---

FREDERICK DOUGLASS.

Boston, June 13th, 1863.

My Dear Mr. Editor,

I have been in Boston for some time, and have been working on a new essay. The essay will be on the subject of political economy, and I hope to publish it shortly. I have been a student of political economy for some time, and I believe that my work will be of value to the readers of your paper.

With reference to my political work, I have been a strong supporter of the Union, and have worked closely with the Republican party. I believe that my political work will continue to be influential in the future.

I wish you all the best of luck in your work, and I look forward to reading your paper in the near future.

Yours sincerely,

Frederick Douglass.