THE GETTYSBURG VANDALS.

Granted, the name of Gettysburg may be, and always will be, the Grand National of Vandalism, and the owners of the Vandalized Grounds appear to have taken the lead. A man, building a properly wooded park to build a road and the set of walls was built by the owners of the property, and which it is not to be seen over the present condition of those walls.

There is a new point of view that the Vandalism Company is in full sail, on the strength of the present condition of the walls. The owners themselves, in order to maintain the peace, have posted a notice on the property that all persons are to be evicted. The vandalism that is now rampant in the park is a matter of serious concern.

The property should long ago have been preserved by the Government and turned over to the hands of a museum, but the vandalism that has been committed in the past is a matter of serious concern.

The vandalism that is now rampant in the park is a matter of serious concern. The Government should have taken action long ago to preserve the property and turn it over to the hands of a museum.