TUESDAY, JULY 29, 1862.

The Union.

[Article discussing military events, including a report on the fall of Vicksburg and the Union's engagement to march on the Confederacy.

The Statesman.

[Another article focusing on military news, specifically mentioning Generals Foster and Peck's arrival with 18,000 men.]

Law and Order.

[Legal notices and court proceedings mentioned, including a reference to a July 4th letter from Assistant Adjutant General Clinton C. Brown.

Correspondence.

[Letters discussing various topics, including the condition of the city, the state of the war, and political matters.

[Additional articles and notices from various sections of the newspaper, covering a range of topics from local news to international events.

New Advertisements.

ANOTHER MORNING'S NATION...