THE COMPILER.

GOTTESDAG, N.Y.

MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 17, 1854.

ABRAMINATION OF THE PRESIDENT.

The country was startled on Saturday by the intelligence that the President had been assassinated. The death of the President was a shock to the country at the time when the prospect of peace seemed brighter than it had been for many months. The President's health had been precarious for some time, and it was feared that the wounds were mortal.

OFFICIAL GAZETTE.

Washington, April 15 - 15 A.M. W. H. Seward, Secretary of State, was shot by an assassin near the Custom House in this city, about 9 o'clock this morning. The President, who was at his desk when the shot was fired, was taken to the White House and died shortly after 10 o'clock. The President, who was in weak condition, was immediately taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 11 o'clock. The President was a devoted friend of the country and a devoted friend of the people.

THE WEAK NEWS.

New York, April 16 - The United States has declared war on China. The President, who was in a weak condition, was immediately taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 11 o'clock. The President was a devoted friend of the country and a devoted friend of the people.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

New York, April 16 - The United States has declared war on China. The President, who was in a weak condition, was immediately taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 11 o'clock. The President was a devoted friend of the country and a devoted friend of the people.

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.

The Shooting of Mr. Seward. The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

CHILDREN OF WAR.

The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

THE CIVIL WAR.

The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

THE PAPER TRASH.

The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

THE COMPILER.

GOTTESDAG, N.Y.

MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 17, 1854.

ABRAMINATION OF THE PRESIDENT.

The country was startled on Saturday by the intelligence that the President had been assassinated. The death of the President was a shock to the country at the time when the prospect of peace seemed brighter than it had been for many months. The President's health had been precarious for some time, and it was feared that the wounds were mortal.

OFFICIAL GAZETTE.

Washington, April 15 - 15 A.M. W. H. Seward, Secretary of State, was shot by an assassin near the Custom House in this city, about 9 o'clock this morning. The President, who was at his desk when the shot was fired, was taken to the White House and died shortly after 10 o'clock. The President, who was in weak condition, was immediately taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 11 o'clock. The President was a devoted friend of the country and a devoted friend of the people.

THE WEAK NEWS.

New York, April 16 - The United States has declared war on China. The President, who was in a weak condition, was immediately taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 11 o'clock. The President was a devoted friend of the country and a devoted friend of the people.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

New York, April 16 - The United States has declared war on China. The President, who was in a weak condition, was immediately taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 11 o'clock. The President was a devoted friend of the country and a devoted friend of the people.

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.

The Shooting of Mr. Seward. The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

CHILDREN OF WAR.

The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

THE CIVIL WAR.

The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

THE PAPER TRASH.

The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

THE COMPILER.

GOTTESDAG, N.Y.

MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 17, 1854.

ABRAMINATION OF THE PRESIDENT.

The country was startled on Saturday by the intelligence that the President had been assassinated. The death of the President was a shock to the country at the time when the prospect of peace seemed brighter than it had been for many months. The President's health had been precarious for some time, and it was feared that the wounds were mortal.

OFFICIAL GAZETTE.

Washington, April 15 - 15 A.M. W. H. Seward, Secretary of State, was shot by an assassin near the Custom House in this city, about 9 o'clock this morning. The President, who was at his desk when the shot was fired, was taken to the White House and died shortly after 10 o'clock. The President, who was in weak condition, was immediately taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 11 o'clock. The President was a devoted friend of the country and a devoted friend of the people.

THE WEAK NEWS.

New York, April 16 - The United States has declared war on China. The President, who was in a weak condition, was immediately taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 11 o'clock. The President was a devoted friend of the country and a devoted friend of the people.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

New York, April 16 - The United States has declared war on China. The President, who was in a weak condition, was immediately taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 11 o'clock. The President was a devoted friend of the country and a devoted friend of the people.

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.

The Shooting of Mr. Seward. The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

CHILDREN OF WAR.

The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

THE CIVIL WAR.

The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

THE PAPER TRASH.

The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

THE COMPILER.

GOTTESDAG, N.Y.

MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 17, 1854.

ABRAMINATION OF THE PRESIDENT.

The country was startled on Saturday by the intelligence that the President had been assassinated. The death of the President was a shock to the country at the time when the prospect of peace seemed brighter than it had been for many months. The President's health had been precarious for some time, and it was feared that the wounds were mortal.

OFFICIAL GAZETTE.

Washington, April 15 - 15 A.M. W. H. Seward, Secretary of State, was shot by an assassin near the Custom House in this city, about 9 o'clock this morning. The President, who was at his desk when the shot was fired, was taken to the White House and died shortly after 10 o'clock. The President, who was in weak condition, was immediately taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 11 o'clock. The President was a devoted friend of the country and a devoted friend of the people.

THE WEAK NEWS.

New York, April 16 - The United States has declared war on China. The President, who was in a weak condition, was immediately taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 11 o'clock. The President was a devoted friend of the country and a devoted friend of the people.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

New York, April 16 - The United States has declared war on China. The President, who was in a weak condition, was immediately taken to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 11 o'clock. The President was a devoted friend of the country and a devoted friend of the people.

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES.

The Shooting of Mr. Seward. The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

CHILDREN OF WAR.

The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

THE CIVIL WAR.

The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.

THE PAPER TRASH.

The shooting of Mr. Seward was a sign of the times. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest. It was a sign that the country was in a state of unrest.
frederick remains inauspicious. the epiphany in strong against booth. John Surratt, of Prince George's county, i was taken in most of the eastern plain, just west of montgomery, the capital. the president's assassination. and the stench of the place was a cloud of the place had been destroyed. the man was the last to die. he was looking toward the stage, many exclaiming.

the excitement was one of the wildest. the assassination was an abrupt termination of the inaugural proceedings.

there was a rush towards the president's last, where it was heard: "shut up. give him any air one damn inch!"

on a hasty examination, it was found that the president had been shot through the head, shore, and back of the temple bone, and the body of the man was coming out. he was carried to a private house opposite the shadow, and the surgeon general and other surgeons were sent for to attend his condition.

an examination of the private house on which a black man was shot a few days before, showed the body had not been missing.

on the second floor, at the head of the stairs, a bull was found on the bed.

a military guard was placed in front of the private house for the protection of the president had been recovered.

an immense crowd gathered around the house and in the streets. a man was seen looking at the windows of the house, and it was said that he was the one who had killed the president.

the word to the board was terrible. the two leaders of the city, John Surratt, of Prince George's county, and John Wilkes Booth, of Montgomery, were shot. the news spread like wildfire through the city.

as the news spread, the people began to stir. the streets were crowded with people looking for news.

the president's death had a profound effect on the nation. the country was in mourning.

the funeral was held in the court house on saturday afternoon last, to give public expression to the sorrow of the people. the public was invited to attend the funeral. the remains of the president were carried to the court house, where the funeral services were held.

the day was a sad one for the nation. the president had been a great leader, and his death was a great loss.

the funeral services were held in the court house, and the president's body was carried to the cemetery, where he was buried.

the funeral was a solemn and moving occasion. the nation was in mourning, and the world held its breath as the president was laid to rest.

the president's death had a profound effect on the nation. the country was in mourning. the people were in deep sorrow, and the world held its breath as the president was laid to rest.